Boundaries melt away in this red-hot anthology of girl-on-girl attraction edited by R. Gay, one of the best erotica writers working today.

Girl Crush

Women's Erotic Fantasies
Edited by R. Gay

Every woman has a girl crush — that physical and emotional fascination with another intriguing, provocative woman who inspires the thought, "What if?" Girl Crush answers that question with an inspiring range of erotic short stories about women acting on their desire and sometimes getting more than they bargained for. Teresa Lamai offers an erotic take on revenge in "Mirador," when a woman has hate sex in a nightclub bathroom with the person her boyfriend is cheating on her with. In "Getting to Work," David Erlewine writes about a hot young lawyer who has a lot of work to do to make a demanding, sex-craved partner happy. Writer and editor Rachel Kramer Bussel shows us the unexpected in "Great Lengths," when an unrequited crush finally evolves into something more — and something less. In each of these stories, women satisfy their innermost sexual desires by giving in to their infatuations. In Girl Crush, what happens next is always a surprise, to straight women, bisexual women, and lesbians alike.

R. Gay's writing appears in more than 25 anthologies, including several editions of Best Lesbian Erotica and The Mammoth Book of Best New Erotica, Best Women's Erotica 2008, and Best American Erotica 2004. Visit her online at www.pettyfictions.com.
